Stat-X

First Responder®

The First Responder is a new and innovative tool designed to aid in the suppression of fires and for use as a personal protection device for firefighters in emergency egress or entrance situations. It is physically and functionally similar to a smoke grenade with the major difference that it delivers a highly effective aerosol fire suppression Agent - Stat-X

How does it work?

The Stat-X First Responder works by interrupting the chain reaction of fire. Potassium radicals are the main active component of the Stat-X aerosol. These Potassium radicals react with the free radicals of the flame, which results in suppression. Stat-X does not deplete the oxygen layer nor does it deplete the ozone layer or contribute to global warming

Features

- Offers significant fire “knockdown” and rapid suppression capabilities for enclosed spaces
- Environmentally friendly - No ozone depletion potential - No global warming potential
- Stat-X is approved under SNAP program by the EPA
- Safe for firefighters and any occupants trapped by fire
- No oxygen depletion - suppresses at very low concentrations by interference with free radicals
- Provides a reliable, cost effective fire protection tool for a wide range of fire scenarios
- Small, compact, and easily portable to point of attack.

Coverage

Coverage will be dependent of the specific characteristics of the situation encountered - class of fire, level of Involvement, areas of potential leakage, etc. Tests have shown significant suppression effects up to an 8ft high 10ft x 10ft room - around 20 cubic meters. More units would be required for a large volume or spaces with excessive leakage. The aerosols flows and spreads rapidly throughout the space - in a manner similar to gas. However, since the aerosol is buoyant, more man be required in a high ceiling situation. The fire responder is most effective when thrown directly at or near the fire.

Applications

- Rapid Intervention Teams
- Electrical Vaults
- Meth Lab Fires
- Below Grade Fires
- Delay Flashover
- Rapid Temperature Drop
- High Rise Building Fire
- Shipboard Fires
- Vehicle Fires
